This addendum applies to employees of Veltrix Systems GmbH based in the Berlin office. It sets out the rules that differ from the Global Leave Policy. Where this addendum is silent, the Global Leave Policy applies.

1. Annual leave (Urlaub)

Employees in Germany receive 30 working days of paid annual leave per leave year, based on a five-day working week. This replaces the Annual Leave Accrual Schedule. Annual leave is earned at 2.5 days per month and credited on the last calendar day of each month.

2. Carrying annual leave forward

Employees in Germany may carry forward up to 10 days of unused annual leave. Carried forward days must be used by 31 March of the following year, in line with the Federal Leave Act (BUrlG).

3. Sick leave

Employees in Germany receive up to 30 working days of paid sick leave per leave year, in addition to continued pay rights under the Continued Remuneration Act (EntgFG). Employees must report illness to their manager before the start of their working day. A medical certificate (Arbeitsunfähigkeitsbescheinigung) is required from the fourth calendar day of illness.

4. Parental leave (Elternzeit)

Employees may take unpaid parental leave (Elternzeit) of up to three years per child under the Federal Parental Allowance and Parental Leave Act. Paid parental leave under the Global Leave Policy is provided in addition and is usually taken at the start of Elternzeit.

5. Works council

Changes to leave rules in Germany are agreed with the works council (Betriebsrat) where required by law.
